EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An Examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

2. The application has been amended as follows:

Pursuant to MPEP 606.01, the title has been changed to read: -- COMPUTERIZED PREPRESS AUTHORIZING PROGRAM FOR DOCUMENT CREATION --.

3. The following is an Examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Applicants' computerized prepress method for sending log-on information from a client computer to a server computer regarding a user, authenticating a user at a server computer, downloading and using an authoring program from a server computer to a client computer, saving the document in an internal format at a server computer, translating the document from the internal format to a suitable prepress format, and sending the document in a different format to a printer in Claim 1, storing an authoring program creating a document and a translating program translating the document to a prepress format stored on a server, a client for downloading the authoring program from a server to creating the uploaded document to a server for translating, and a printer for receiving the translated document to a suitable prepress format from a server in Claim 18, a client computer comprising a processor, a computer readable medium, a communications device, an operating environment program being executed by a processor from the medium, and an authoring program being downloaded from a server through a communications device and being executed by a processor from a medium within the operating environment program, and a translation program executed by a processor from a computer-readable medium for translation of the document to a prepress format and sending the translated document to a printer through a communications device in Claims 34 and 40, and a program comprising means for creating a document uploaded to a server through a communications device for translating the document to a prepress format and submitting the translated document to a printer, in conjunction with the other claim limitations was not disclosed by, would not have been obvious over, nor would have been fairly suggested by the prior art of record.

4. The dependent claims 2-17, 19-33, 35-39, 41, and 42 being further limiting to the independent claims, definite and fully enabled by the Specification are also allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

OTHER PRIOR ART MADE OF RECORD

Cyr (US 5,819,014) disclosed certain elements of Applicants' invention, but failed to suggest sending log-on information to a client computer authenticating a user at a server, sending the document from a client computer to a server computer, saving the document in an internal format at a server computer, performing these functions over the Internet, intranet, or extranet, an authoring program downloaded from the server to a client computer coded in a language comprising Perl, Java, C++, C, and Active X, a business card, a letterhead, an envelope, and a brochure, a color palette, an image format comprising GIF, TIFF, and JPEG, a maximum resolution of 4:1 for the image with one of the images formatted in encapsulated PostScript, HTML, PDF, and PostScript Extreme, a printer generating a MIME- compliant electronic mail for submission to a printer including the attachment, or an intranet, an Internet or an extranet or a World-Wide-Web browser program. An argument under a Section 103 could be made from the Grasso et al (US 5,892,909) reference, but once again, the reference lacks motivation to suggest sending log-on information from a client computer to a server computer and authenticating a user at a server computer, saving the document in an internal format at a server computer, a directory server with a set of defaults regarding fonts, colors, images, and commands available to a user, a computer language encoded in Perl, a business card, a letterhead, an envelope, and a brochure, a color palette, images formatted in GIF, TIFF, JPEG, and PostScript Extreme, or uploading the authoring program used to create a document. Drennan (02105523) uses color digital presses for printing from an internal format to a prepress format, but fails to suggest that the process is preformed over the Internet or that the user is authenticated at the server computer. Seybold Report on Publishing Systems (02018657) combines color printing (E-Print 1000+) from an internal document format supporting PostScript, but fails to suggest the user is authenticated at the server or performing the process over the Internet

Art Unit: 2771
